Planners approve port project, feds kick in $2.5 million grant

The City of West Sacramento will receive a $2.5 million grant to help prepare for the "West Coast Recycling" metal recycling plant proposed at the Port of West Sacramento.

The grant comes from the federal Community Development Block Grant program, administered by the state department of housing and community development.

A city press release said the project will bring $25 million in private investment and 65 jobs. The 15-acre site at the port was formerly home to a log export yard, and then to a concrete recycling facility. The facility would bring in flattened automobile "hulks" as well as appliances and other raw materials, shredding them and separating them into materials such as recyclable metal, according to project documents.

The grant money will be used to construct a new intersection on Harbor Boulevard, a new port entrance, and a road into the metal recycling facility.

A Walnut Creek law firm has opposed the West Sacramento project, identifying its client as a citizen's coalition. But the West Sacramento Planning Commission approved the project last week, said David Tilley, a senior planner for the City of West Sacramento.

Deadline for for the Walnut Creek law firm, or anyone else, to appeal the decision and take the matter to the city council is this Friday.

Hundreds do laps at RCHS in 24-hour team event

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Roughly 600 people descended on the track at River City High School over a 24-hour period during the weekend for a "Relay For Life" fundraiser against cancer.

Teams of walkers and runners raised pledge money for the American Cancer Society. Then they took turns on the track, making sure a team member was logging miles for the whole 24-hour stretch from 9 a.m. Saturday to 9 a.m. Sunday.

"There were opening ceremonies at 9 a.m., the survivors take their lap, the caregivers come out to walk with the survivors, and then one of each team comes out and walks, taking turns for the whole night," said Kelly

Rochester, one of the local event's organizers. "It was really a celebration of the survivors -- and of the ones who didn't make it."

It was the first "Relay for Life" to be held in West Sacramento.

"The American Cancer Society goal for a 'baby' relay is $25,000," reported Rochester. "We decided as a committee to go for $30,000. We hit about $62,000 -- maybe in the end, it will be about $65,000, because I've got about $200 more to turn in, and others have small amounts to turn in here and there, too."

Rochester is one of the owners of "All Phase Security" in West Sacramento, and considers herself a "lifer" in the town. She said she knew "probably 80 percent" of the participants in the relay.

The West Sacramento version of the national "Relay for Life" event grew from a little meeting of the hearts over the Internet about nine or ten months ago, she said.

"One of my friends I had grown up with had posted a 'bioluminary' -- you write a memory and light a (virtual) candle. She had lost a brother to cancer, and I had lost a brother. She put me in touch with Julie Huber. From Julie Huber's living room meetings, we then got the city on board -- the rec team -- and we started having meetings at the boat-house out at Bridgeway Lakes. We ended up with 18 or 20 committee chairpeople."

Huber became the biggest individual fundraiser at the relay, bringing in $3,000.

The American Cancer Society provides staff support to the event.

Resident Debbie Norton-Johnson was part of the "Zumba at the Clubhouse" team.

Through the eyes of Oscar Wilde

I have always been fascinated by the wit and genius of Oscar Wilde, the famous Irish writer and poet who graced the earth during the last half of the 19th century. He was one of the most well-known personalities of his day and was the talk of London's social circles before falling on hard times and dying destitute in a rundown Paris hotel room at the age of 46, saying to those surrounding his death bed, "Either this wallpaper has to go, or I do."

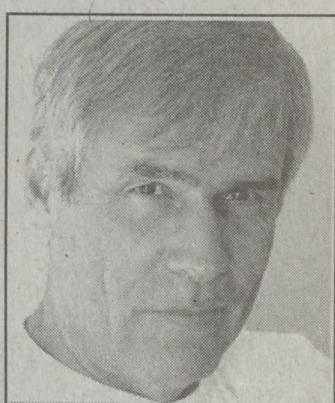

Over the years, a friend of mine and I have enjoyed sending Oscar Wilde witticisms back and forth. I'm not sure where he gets his quotes, but almost all of mine come from a wonderfully written Wilde biography by Richard Ellmann, which I stumbled across many years ago at a West Sacramento Friends of the Library used book sale. Anyway, keeping in mind that Wilde once said "Quotation is a serviceable substitution for wit", here are some of my favorite Oscar Wilde quotes:

"Be yourself, everyone else is already taken."

"Always forgive your enemies. Nothing annoys them so much."

"The soul is born old, but grows young. That is the comedy of life. The body is born

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

young and grows old. That is life's tragedy."

"We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking up at the stars."

"The mind of a thoroughly well-informed man is a dreadful thing. It is like a bric-a-brac shop, all monsters and dust, with everything priced above its proper value."

"Society often forgives the criminal. It never forgives the dreamer."

"There is nothing like youth. To win back my youth, there is nothing I wouldn't do - except take exercises, get up early, or be a useful member of the community."

"The ancient historian gave us delightful fiction in the form of facts; the modern novelist presents us with dull facts under the guise of fiction. History never repeats itself. The historians repeat each other. There is a wide difference."

"Poets know how useful passion is for publication. Nowadays a broken heart will run to many editions."

"The object of the critic is to see the object as it really is not."

"We have really everything in common with America nowadays, except, of course, language."

"It is a vulgar error to suppose that America was ever discovered. It was merely detected."

"Every man of ambition has to fight his century with its own weapons. What this century worships is wealth. The God of this century is wealth. To succeed one must have wealth. At all costs one must have wealth."

"To be either a Puritan, a prig or a preacher is a bad thing. To be all three at once reminds of the worst excesses of the French Revolution."

"Art is the one thing which death cannot harm."

"Modern newspapers are nothing but dreary records of politics, police-courts and personalities."

"I have often observed that in married households the champagne is rarely of a first-rate brand."

"It is only the shallow people who do not judge by appearances."

"The proper basis for marriage is a mutual misunderstanding."

"One cannot extort affection with a knife. To awaken gratitude in the ungrateful were as vain as to try to waken the dead by cries."

"One should never make one's debut with a scandal. One should reserve that to give an interest to one's old age."

"Personality is a very mysterious thing. A man cannot always be estimated by what he does. He may keep the law and yet be worthless. He may break the law, and yet be fine. He may be bad, without ever doing anything bad. He may commit a sin against society, and yet realize through that sin his own perfection."

"Aesthetics are higher than ethics. They belong to a more spiritual sphere. To discern the beauty of a thing is the finest point to which we can arrive."

"If we lived long enough to see the results of our actions it may be that those who call themselves good would be sickened with a dull remorse, and those whom the world calls evil stirred by a noble joy."

"And what sort of lives do these people, who pose as being moral, lead themselves? My dear fellow, you forget that we are in the native land of the hypocrite."

"What a silly thing love is! It is not half as useful as logic, for it does not prove anything and it is always telling one things that are not going to happen, and making one believe things that are not true."

"Always! That is a dreadful word. It makes me shudder when I hear it. Women are so

OSCAR WILDE:
Irish poet, writer & aesthete fond of using it. They spoil every romance by trying to make it last forever. It is a meaningless word, too. The only difference between a caprice and a lifelong passion is that the caprice lasts a little longer."

"You don't love someone for their looks, or their clothes, or for their fancy car, but because they sing a song only you can hear."

"Children begin by loving their parents. After a time they judge them. Rarely, if ever, do they forgive them."

"One should never take sides in anything. Taking sides is the beginning of sincerity and earnestness and shortly afterwards you become a bore."

"It is absurd to divide people into good and bad. People are either charming or tedious."

"No good deed goes unpunished."

"A good friend will always stab you in the front."

"Anyone can sympathise with the sufferings of a friend, but it requires a very fine nature to sympathise with a friend's success."

"Anyone who lives within their means suffers from a lack of imagination."

"The pure and simple truth is rarely pure and never simple."

There was some variety during the walk.

"Every lap has a theme," reported Norton-Johnson.

"You're supposed to hula-hoop around the track for

Will "Relay for Life" return next year?

"There will be a next year," answered Rochester, without hesitation.

Keep your air clean

From the YSAQMD

Now that the warm weather is here the Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District (YSAQMD) has some tips to maintain a healthy environment and reduce the number of Spare the Air days when ground level ozone reaches unhealthy levels.

TIP 1: Barbeque that use charcoal lighter fluid can add a not-so-healthy morsel to the air. Volatile Organic Compounds (VOCs) contribute to ground-level ozone or better known as smog. Electric starters or chimney briquette starters work just as well without adding to air pollution. If you are in the market for a new barbeque this summer, consider a propane gas-powered unit.

TIP 2: When you are sprucing up your yard, use manual or electric garden equipment whenever possible. The use of gas-powered lawn and garden equipment can result in higher ozone levels. The gas evaporates into the air, helping to form smog. If you must use fuel, use it carefully and store it with a tight-fitting cap.

TIPS 3: Thinking of painting the house? Choose water-based paints and properly dispose of paints and solvents, and seal paint containers tightly.

TIP 4: Taking a car trip? To reduce air pollution from your vehicle, change your oil and oil filter regularly. Keep tire pressure and alignment in order – it could improve gas mileage. Change your fuel filter and air filter once a year or every 12,000 miles. Monitor hoses, wiring and belts. Give your car regular tune-ups and check the crankcase breather element and emissions control devices. Be an Eco Driver: www.ecodrivingusa.com/

Spare The Air season runs through October and advisories for ground-level ozone pollution are issued when the Air Quality Index (AQI) is expected to reach 150 or above. To receive local air quality information sign up for Enviroflash at h t t p : / / ysaqmd.enviroflash.org/

The YSAQMD is dedicated to protecting human health and property from the harmful effects of air pollution. For information on how to maintain healthful air quality call (530) 757-3650 or visit www.ysaqmd.org.

OPINION

NEWS-LEDGER EDITORIAL:

Things that go boom in the night, etc.

Clarification:

A couple of months back, the News-Ledger reported about the City of West Sacramento's entry into a competition to form an "innovation hub" partnership with science departments at UC Davis. The university's goal is to form one or more centers of public/private partnership, marrying UC Davis research to private sector entrepreneurship.

After the article, the News-Ledger editorialized that the city's proposal lacked enough substance to get a leg up in the competition. Dozens of other jurisdictions were also in the hunt to form an "iHub."

The newspaper has since learned that in addition to West Sacramento's own proposal, the city has also teamed with a private partner in a separate "innovation hub" application.

More information on that and the whole "iHub" process later, as the competition moves along.

Making "safe and sane" fireworks legal in West Sacramento has drawn mostly positive responses from local residents. Those who want to celebrate the Fourth of July with fireworks seem to outnumber those who place a higher value on peace and quiet. Local charities are also excited about the opportunity to sell fireworks as a fundraiser.

This year, for the first time, residents can buy and use fireworks from noon on June 28 to noon on July 6.

The city will no doubt consider revising the ordinance after seeing how things work out this year. But the time span seems awfully generous; that's a lot of days and nights to ask local residents to tolerate the bangs, pops and whistles of assorted firecrackers.

The "Relay for Life" organized by locals and the American Cancer Society at the RCHS track over the weekend was a big hit. Teams walked, jogged or hula-hooped around the school track for 24-hours straight, raising over $60,000 in the fight against cancer.

That is, they did once they found the campus. Our features editor reports he was stopped by two cars while he was out walking before the event. The cars were over near Clarendon Street, driven by people looking for RCHS. It seems they were from out of town and on their way to the Relay for Life, but the directions they received from the Internet had sent them to the old campus site and not to the new one in Southport.

The News-Ledger checked online this week, and it was true. At least two leading Internet map services, Google and Yahoo, apparently didn't get the memo that the school has moved. River City High School doesn't live on Clarendon Street anymore.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Profiling for gangs

Judging by the article in the News-Ledger, it seems that the gang injunction granted by Judge White is a dangerous ruling. So long as a person is "alleged" to be a member of the Broderick Boys, their civil rights can be summarily abrogated. After all alleging has no real legal standard and we are all free to allege anything we want.

Unless the injunction states very specifically what constitutes proper determination of gang membership, and unless those standards are both strict and strictly adhered to, anyone could be accused and have their freedom of movement severely restricted. Additionally all swarthy men dwelling in or passing through Broderick are subject to at the very least, suspicion, and quite probably harassment, unless each law enforcement officer is familiar with the faces, autos and associates of all 300+ supposedly validated gang members. I suspect that profiling is inevitable, and fear similar future legal actions against those of Baltic descent and those of South East Asian origin will soon experience a similar fate as there are gangs and criminal activities associated with these groups as well. What will happen when our African American population reaches a size to be considered a threat? If that seems stupid, think! The silliness has a firm foundation in the injunction.

If these concerns are not the case, and if the injunction has standards of proof attached, those need to be made public, by the News-Ledger, to allay very realistic fears, and to correct what would, in that case, have been incomplete reportage. Otherwise I will encourage my law abiding, swarthy, mustachioed, long haired, 76 year old Dutch Indonesian, Latino appearing husband to avoid the proscribed area, and all West Sacramento law enforcement as dangerous to his freedom and rights as a citizen.

SUNNY (Roxanne B.) DE KONING
WEST SACRAMENTO

EDITOR'S NOTE: We're working on getting answers to the question about how one gets onto the list of gang members, and how one gets off the list.

The criteria for being labeled a Broderick

Boys gang member are spelled out in the ordinance – they include an admission of membership, commission of a crime with known gang members or possession of a distinctive gang tattoo. We're awaiting a response from the D.A.'s office on other details, such as which agencies can make the determination that a person meets those criteria. Watch for a report soon.

Rooting for Brown

I really appreciated the editorial last week ("Join the party of one," News-Ledger, June 22). It was the one rational budget piece I've read in weeks.

I can't imagine why Jerry Brown wanted to be governor, but he did, and saved us from Meg Whitman. All the people in California, including the Bee and the Democrats, should be rooting for him, not trying to cut him down.

He's smart, experienced and determined. Let's hope there are enough people in California to help him 'save' the state. Where do I go to join the 'party of one'?

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Sucker Punch" (PG-13) — So much of this film is in layered storytelling done in music-video format that I'm not sure it can be described in plain text, so be prepared. "Sucker Punch" is a humorless movie made and sold on the premise of girls in fetish gear and their gratuitous fights with baddies assembled from unfinished video games. (That was shockingly easy.)

There is a story, don't be fooled. Emily Browning plays a young girl who accidentally kills her sister while trying to defend her from their evil stepfather and is institutionalized as a result. (This we learn from the first of many music videos the director trusted to tell the narrative.) To cope, the protagonist escapes into imaginary worlds — one of which is apparently the realm of played-out visuals and forgotten comic-book bad guys.

Director Zack Snyder's famed "action style" gets annoying. In any fight, time erratically speeds up and grinds to a crawl like an amnesiac trying to drive a stick shift. The combat scenes are intense, but it doesn't take long before the whole mess blends together. The imaginary baddies change, but they're just different brownish things to shoot at — be they undead Nazis, orc soldiers or robot samurai. Even if this sounds like your kinda thing, seeing them used so interchangeably sort of cheapens it, making it look more like pandering than a well-crafted fantasy.

"Season of the Witch" (PG-13) — The term "witch hunt" give rise to all kinds of scary ideas — curses, poisons, scapegoating, suspicion and the tangled web of moral dilemmas inherent in a panicked society. Don't worry though, this one is just another pretty-dark adventure featuring Nicolas Cage phoning it in as the hero.

Two knights gone AWOL from the crusades (Nicolas Cage and Ron Perlman) get roped into transporting an accused witch to a special monastery so they can end the cursed plague sweeping the land. Cage keeps it cool, depriving the audience of a new satisfyingly spastic outburst from the venerated over-actor.

It's probably not something you'll want to watch over and over again — predicting what happens next is easy enough on the first viewing. However, there's nothing strikingly bad about it, and it one can genuinely enjoy this short adventure through a world of nice knights and mean monsters.

"Uncle Buck" (PG) [Blu-ray] — Beloved writer/director John Hughes gave us this family comedy back in 1989. John Candy stars as the titular uncle, a goofball bachelor trusted to watch over his brother's kids for a little while. It's a fun movie from a time when teenagers didn't have cell phones and Macaulay Culkin was still small, cute and funny.

"Robert Redford: The Biography" by Michael Feeney Callan (Knopf, $28.95) Reviewed by Larry Cox

Dublin-based author, producer and director Michael Feeney Callan spent more than a decade researching the life of Robert Redford, and his meticulous research and obvious respect for the actor are evident in his new book.

Redford was born in 1936 in Santa Monica, Calif. While attending Van Nuys High School, he boosted hubcaps and seemed destined for trouble. Although his grades were lackluster, he managed to get a baseball scholarship to the University of Colorado, but flunked out because of his tendency to party. He enrolled at the Pratt School of Art and then spent time in Europe before returning to New York. While studying at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, he discovered that he wanted to be an actor.

Although he appeared in several films, it was his breakout role in 1969 with Paul Newman in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" that helped make him an international star. Within a decade, he had become box-office gold as one of America's most popular leading men. He won his first Oscar, not for acting, but for his work as a director in the seminal film "Ordinary People." He appeared in several blockbusters, including "All The President's Men," "The Sting" and "The Way We Were." His success as an actor was sometimes overshadowed by his directing skills in films such as "A River Runs Through It," "Quiz Show" and most recently "The Conspirator." He's also co-starred in at least six stage productions.

In 1990, Redford established the Sundance Institute in Utah in order to help and guide young filmmakers. During the past several decades, he also has gained attention as an environmentalist.

Callan's book documenting how a juvenile delinquent, sometimes artist and finally actor/director became such an American icon, is truly a fascinating story. It is a candid, accessible portrait that makes for perfect summer reading.

Plant a Salad Bar

Gardens and salads go together! You don't have to have a large yard space to plant a salad garden. Short rows or even large patio containers of your favorite salad ingredients will add variety to your plate.

While some of the first produce from spring gardens are greens like spinach and lettuce, our gardens can be our salad bar throughout the growing season. As you plan to plant your garden, plant the vegetables you'll need as ingredients.

Here is a list for starters: Cabbage; Sweet peppers (red and green); Green Onions; Carrots; Beans (Green and Wax); Fresh Dill; Spinach; Lettuce; Tomatoes; Green Peas; Broccoli; Fresh Herbs. With these few ingredients from your garden, some salads you could prepare include: Copper Pennies (marinated carrots); Slaw; Three-Bean Salad; Spinach Salad; Layered Lettuce; Marinated Vegetables; and Carrot-Raisin Salad. Add your favorite to the list.

Fresh vegetables provide fiber to our diets along with ample vitamins A and C. They generally are low-calorie until we add the sauces and dressings in preparation. But, we can make some adaptations to our home-prepared dressings, so they taste terrific and contain less oil and fewer calories.

The trick to making low-calorie dressings is to substitute pectin (yes the kind we make jams and jellies with) for part or all of the oil. The pectin thickens the mixture to look and pour like dressings.

To adapt your homemade salad dressing recipe, follow these easy steps.

1. Replace all or part of the oil in the recipe with vegetable broth or water. It's your call on the amount.
2. Figure the total amount of liquid in your recipe. Add up the amount of water, vinegar, syrup, juice, etc.
3. For every 1 1/2 cups liquid, add 2 to 3 tablespoons of dry pectin (depends on thickness desired).
4. Allow your mixture to refrigerate several hours to thicken. You can put it on the salad as your recipe directs or store in a shakable container. Some dressings on salads are great on other types of salads too!

SUPER SUPPER SALAD

This is my "go-to" salad when I want to combine the best vegetables from my garden with what I already have on hand in my refrigerator and pantry.

1 (6 ounce) package deli turkey, chicken, roast beef or ham (or leftover cooked meats), sliced thinly, or 4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced into quarters
6 to 8 ounces of fresh salad greens or spinach
1 (15 ounce) can low-sodium black beans, cannellini or kidney beans, drained and rinsed
8 to 10 cherry tomatoes
1 large peach, pear or apple, pit or core removed and sliced; or 1/2 melon, peeled, seeded and cut into slices or cubes; or 1/4 cup dried fruits (raisins, figs, raisins, prunes)
1 medium red bell pepper, seeds and ribs removed, and diced; or 1 small cucumber, sliced; or 1 cup of cooked or raw sliced broccoli or cauliflower florets

2 or 3 leaves or sprigs of fresh herbs (basil, thyme, oregano, chives, parsley, etc.), finely minced

1/4 cup sliced almonds, walnut halves, soy nuts or sunflower seeds

1/4 cup low-fat salad dressing

Place the greens in a large bowl along with the meat, beans, tomatoes, fruit and vegetables. Sprinkle on the herbs and nuts. Drizzle salad with low-fat dressing and toss to combine.

Measure K Report

From the City of West Sacramento ■ March 31, 2011

Measures J & K

In November 2002, West Sacramento voters approved two measures that established a sales tax override of ½% (or ½ cent on every taxable sales dollar) that was intended to supplement the city's general fund for general government purposes. Measure J was an advisory measure that described the City Council's conceptual plan on how the money should be spent, and Measure K was the measure that actually implemented the sales tax override. The initial amount generated from the ½% override was estimated to be $5 million annually.

What Measure J Asked

If Measure K is approved, should the proceeds fund the repair and maintenance of city streets, new parks and community facilities, library services, after-school programs, childcare and senior facilities, expanded police and fire protection, and reductions in utility bills and property tax assessments?

How Measure K Works

Measure K specified that the ½% override would consist of ¼% that would cease after 10 years and ¼% that would continue indefinitely. The funds generated by the override have been divided into two categories: a base allocation and a capital allocation. The base allocation is funded with the ongoing ¼%, and the capital allocation is funded with the ¼% that will cease after 10 years. The base allocation is to be used for ongoing programs and activities; the capital allocation is to be used for specific projects. In the case of capital allocation, bonding and borrowing against the projected annual cash flow has enabled a larger amount of funding to be available at the onset of the 10-year period. One of the purposes of Measure K funding was to attract and leverage other funding sources such as developer commitments, federal and state grants. Toward this end, we have been successful in attracting about $10 million in other funds, or about 24% of the Measure K funds of $43.0 million.

Measures U & V

On November 4, 2008, West Sacramento voters approved two measures, Measure U and Measure V. Measure U approved the continuation of a ½ cent portion of an existing ½ cent sales tax for an additional 20 years. Measure V approved the use of ½ cent of sales tax proceeds to fund the operations of a streetcar system and fund flood protection improvements. The two measures approved are critical to the safety and prosperity to the region.

This Report

Measure K also included the requirement that "the citizens shall receive annually a published report of revenues and disbursements following a public hearing." A public hearing for that purpose is held each year by June 30.

This report shows that these Allocations are consistent with Measure J.

Overview

In the information presented below, Allocation refers to the distribution of Measure K funds in accordance with Measure J, along with revenues from other sources, while Actual refers to actual disbursement of those funds.

As the graph for Allocations below shows, Public Safety receives 10% of the revenue for programs, including additional police and fire personnel, new equipment and facility repairs.

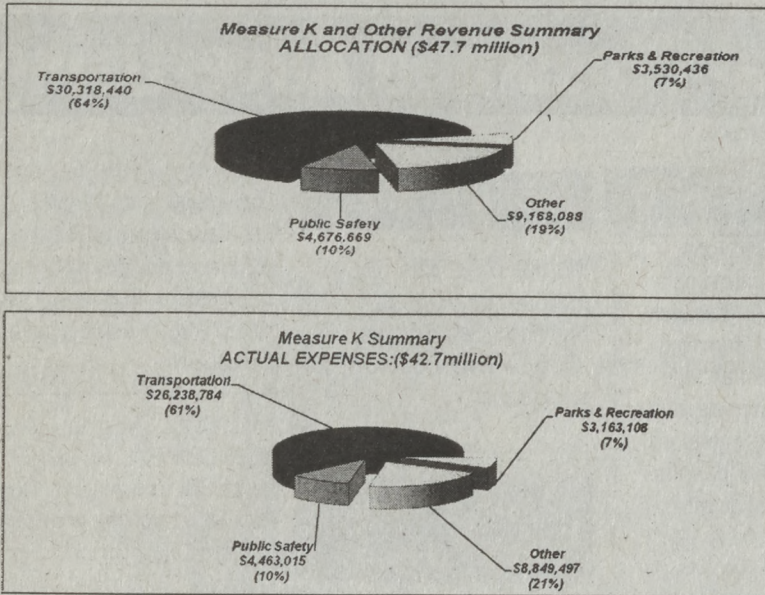

Transportation programs, receiving 64% of the revenue, include street sweeping and minor street maintenance. Major projects in this category include sidewalk repair, traffic safety upgrades, bike lane striping and an accelerated program for resurfacing of many residential streets.

Parks and Recreation, with 7% of the revenue, offers expanded after-school and childcare programs, and provides for certain facilities at various community sites, including restrooms, playgrounds and irrigation improvements in parks, skate park, and fishing dock improvements.

REVENUE AND DISBURSEMENTS THROUGH THE PERIOD ENDING MARCH 31, 2011

	Allocation		Actual Expense
	Measure K	Other Revenues
REVENUES
Measure K Sales Tax and Other Revenues	$42,950,336
EXPENDITURES
PUBLIC SAFETY
Base
Investigations - Personnel Costs, Safety Equipment, Vehicles & Equipment	2,337,116	--	2,216,328
Allocation - Expands Police and Code Enforcement resources dedicated to the West Capitol Avenue corridor. Funds will be spent on specialized training, supplies and equipment.
Actual Expense - Measure K moneys allotted to the Police Department were initially used to fund two police officer positions, a Code Enforcement officer and a vehicle. These positions became the West Capitol Avenue Impact Team. The team worked under a community policing philosophy, using partnerships with public and private entities to solve identified community issues and priorities.
In January 2007, the police officer positions previously allocated to the West Capitol Avenue Impact Team were incorporated into the newly formed Community Response Team (CRT). The Community Response Team is comprised of one police sergeant and four police officers. The formation of the Community Response Team allows the ability to employ some of the same concepts used by the West Capitol Avenue Impact Team in the City of West Sacramento as a whole. The CRT works closely with Code Enforcement to address both the short-term and long-term issues.
The CRT mission will be achieved through a cooperative effort with the community and other law and non-law enforcement agencies. Some of the objectives include the West Capitol Avenue Corridor, crime suppression, gang suppression, prostitution abatement, street level narcotics (hand to hand/neighborhood issues), illegal camping, Problem Oriented Policing (POP) projects, issues which require resources beyond the capabilities of a normal department response, and community wellness issues.
Some of the significant activities conducted along the West Capitol Corridor by the Community Response Team during the past fiscal year involved the dismantling of several street level narcotic sales operations with the Yolo Narcotic Enforcement Team, addressing community wellness and crime issues at a mobile home park and conducting outreach activities by delivering Neighborhood Needs Assessment Surveys to the businesses along West Capitol Avenue. Several of the surveys were returned identifying issues being faced by businesses. Overall, there has been a decrease in criminal activity on West Capitol Avenue, and particularly at the motels, based on calls for service or lack thereof. This is a result of the continued monitoring of activity and issues and a coordinated Patrol, CRT and Code Enforcement response when issues are identified.
Professional Services, Emergency Services Personnel Costs, Safety Clothing & Training	1,686,241	--	1,662,047
Allocation - Enhances fire operations by staffing a truck with a firefighter for two of three shifts.
Actual Expense - Salaries, benefits, safety clothing, and training for two firefighters that have been assigned to the truck on two of the three shifts. However, with current budget allocations, the truck is now fully staffed and is stationed at Station 45 and runs as a company and responds to structure fires, vehicle accidents, goes on business inspections, etc.

Allocation - Funding for rehabilitation of five fire stations, including reroofing, fixing garage doors and exhaust venting, and painting. Funding for station maintenance of all five fire stations.

In October 2009, monthly residential sweeping was reduced to once per month as part of the budget reductions. From April 1, 2010 through March 31, 2011, 5,211 miles of streets were swept citywide.
Street Maintenance	2,074,982	--	1,947,183
Allocation - Funding for (i) minor pothole and surface crack repairs; (ii) small slurry sealing projects; (iii) signal maintenance; (iv) sidewalk repairs; and (v) additional staffing.
Actual Expense - Hired two maintenance workers and one assistant maintenance superintendent. From April 1, 2010 through March 31, 2011, 208 tons of asphalt were used for road repairs.

Cruises: Relax And Enjoy The Ride

(NAPS)—There's a reason why cruising has always been popular with the rich and famous—it's a magnificent way to travel! Time doesn't stand still on a cruise, but it does slow down to a relaxed pace that lets you enjoy life's little luxuries, like a well-appointed room that keeps things simple and attentive service that anticipates not only your every need, but your heart's desires, too.

Experience a luxuriously carefree vacation.

Savor the spaciousness of a full-scale luxury liner offering all the accoutrements of a floating resort out on the open seas with activities to gratify every family member. Or relish the romance of a more intimate sailing vessel that navigates the less-traveled passageways of charming tropical islands.

For a customized experience, American Safari Cruises offers unstructured interisland cruises in Hawaii aboard a 36-guest luxury yacht beginning October 2011. In Tahiti's Society and Tuamotu Islands, Dream Yacht Charter lets you chart the course of a four-cabin luxury catamaran.

And with about 70 percent of the Earth's surface covered by water, cruises go everywhere—Hawaii, the Caribbean, Tahiti, Fiji and the Cook Islands, just to name a few.

For more information, contact Pleasant Holidays at 1-800-448-3333 or at www.PleasantHolidays.com.

Contentment is a pearl of great price, and who ever procures it at the expense of 10,000 desires makes a wise and happy purchase.
